

Homophones

Homophones are words that sound the same, but have different meanings and spellings.

1. Draw lines to match the pairs of homophones.

guest	read	soar	reed
bee	sore	guessed	be

2. Underline the correct spelling in each sentence below.

Hamish wants (to / too / two) live in London when he's older.

I have one pet snake and (to / too / two) crocodiles.

Rowena put (to / too / two) much salt in the fish stew.

3. Write each of these words in a sentence.

there

their they're

4. Use pairs of homophones to complete these pairs of sentences.

a. I couldn't see in the m _ _ s _ _ . I tried to catch it, but I m _ _ s _ _ .

b. We've just s _ _ e _ _ a spaceship. He painted a country s _ c _ _ .

c. I was so b _ _ r _ _ in maths today. Miss Smith wrote on the b _ _ _ r _ _ .

d. I bought a p _ _ i _ _ of shoes. Flik ate a p _ _ a _ _ with her lunch.

Homophones

5. Replace the underlined words with the correct homophone.

There is a big difference in wait between mail and female polar bears.

↑	↑	↑
[]	[]	[]

The breaks have rusted on my blew bike, so Dad is going to bye me a new won.

↑	↑	↑	↑
[]	[]	[]	[]

6. Nine of the words in the passage below are incorrect.

Circle the incorrect words and write the correct homophones in the box below.

Roberto, the groom, stood nervously at the alter. Suddenly, the church doors opened, and Roberto spotted Anna at the other end of the isle. "She looks beautiful," he side. He felt rather outdressed in his plane black suit, but he new Anna wouldn't mined at all. They had bean weighting four this day for years.

7. Write a homophone of each of these words.

seam → []	hare → []
paws → []	oar → []
threw → []	know → []
fare → []	draught → []

Dastardly things, homophones, but not enough to fox a Spellasaurus. How did you get on with these pages?

