

from Mountain Mona by Vivian French (Collins Big Cat)

She tried to scramble, but she bumped her nose.
"It's no good," she said. "I can't do the things other goats can. Besides, I don't LIKE jumping ... or leaping ... or climbing ... or scrambling.
And I don't care about fierce lions either.
AND I don't like living on the top of a mountain.
Mountains make me dizzy."
Mona stomped off down the mountain.

"Mona," said her mother, "why don't you try climbing and scrambling?"
Mona sighed a huge sigh.
"All right," she said. "I'll try."
Mona began to climb, but she fell on a thistle.
