

Writing an alternative traditional tale.

Story Mountain

Dilemma

Unicorn biscuit is trapped in a pot of gold

Build-up

Unicorn biscuit runs away

Resolution

Unicorn uses all his strength to dig himself out

Opening

A little boy and his sister
Unicorn biscuit

Closing

Unicorn lives happily ever after

Once upon a time...

twinkl.co.uk

Early one morning...

twinkl.co.uk

A long, long time ago...

twinkl.co.uk

Right in the middle of a dark, dark night...

twinkl.co.uk

On a fine and sunny day...

twinkl.co.uk

In a land far, far away...

twinkl.co.uk

Traditional Story

Traditional stories, sometimes called fairy tales, are about fairies and magic. Love and magic are common themes. Witches, wizards, princes, princesses and talking animals are common characters. They begin with 'Once upon a time...' and the ending is usually '...happily ever after.'

enchanted

magical

handsome

curse

wishes

brave

terrifying

marriage

beautiful kingdom

thrill

wicked

rescue

cottage

excitement

spell

bewitched

transformation

unknown

charming

astonishment

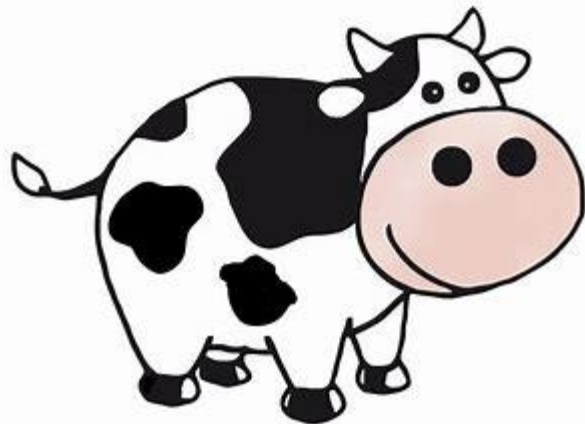

One sunny morning, a young boy called Henry and his sister decided to do some baking in their bright yellow kitchen. They decided to make some unicorn biscuits because they knew that was their mummy's favorite. As they were cooking they smelt delicious!

Suddenly, when Henry's sister opened the oven to take them out. The unicorn biscuit jumped up and galloped straight out of the door!

Henry and his sister ran after the unicorn shouting STOP! 'Run, run as quick as you like, you wont catch me I'm faster than a bike!' Said the unicorn

The unicorn got to a cow, 'Stop! You look good enough to eat!' said the cow. 'Run, run as quick as you like, you wont catch me, I'm faster than a bike!'

The unicorn carried on running, suddenly he passed a butterfly, 'Stop! You look good enough to eat!' said the butterfly. 'Run, run as quick as you like, you wont catch me, I'm faster than a bike!'

All of a sudden the unicorn reached a rainbow. He galloped as fast as he could to reach the top and was so tired he slid all the way down the other side until he landed in a giant pot of gold.

The unicorn realized he was stuck and all the animals were chasing him. He pushed and push with all his strength to get the gold coins off him.

Thankfully the unicorn was able to escape and galloped off into the distance and lived happily ever after.

The end.

