

Mixed practice

7. Using all of the words below, fill in the gaps in this text so that it makes sense.

melted mix chocolate pour mug perfect

To make the hot chocolate, you will need 35 g of chocolate and 250 ml of semi-skimmed milk. the milk into a pan, and warm it over a medium heat. Meanwhile, break the into pieces, and add the pieces to the pan. the milk and the chocolate with a wooden spoon until the chocolate pieces have Turn off the heat, and carefully pour the hot chocolate into a Serve with whipped cream, mini marshmallows and a generous helping of chocolate sprinkles. Sit back and enjoy!

8. Tick the sentences that would still make sense without a relative pronoun.

- a. The bag that I use for my P.E. kit gets very smelly.
- b. There was a cloud of smoke which filled the kitchen.
- c. We met the prince who is going to be king one day.
- d. I know the place that you're talking about.

9. a. Underline the relative clause in each of these sentences.

Colin works for a company which makes chocolate biscuits.

Henry introduced me to the woman who judges the baking contest.

b. Write a relative clause for each of these sentences.

I bought the car

Yesterday, I saw the man

Mixed practice

10. Read this piece of text, and mark where new paragraphs should begin with //. You will need to add 5 paragraph markers.

At the side of the lagoon in Hognose Valley, the Humbletons were sitting by the campfire, stewing their dinner of wriggly eels. The Humbletons were curious creatures — their noses were black, their feet were webbed, and their hair was pondweed green. Over in a neighbouring valley lived the Poggleworths. Like the Humbletons, the Poggleworths were also fond of eels, but that's where their similarities ended. In fact, these two clans didn't get on at all. It all began two hundred years ago when the leader of the Poggleworths forbade his daughter from marrying a Humbleton squire. "If you go against my wishes," he said, "You will not be welcome here." The Humbleton leader learnt of this and was furious. He declared war on the Poggleworths, and a bitter fight broke out which lasted many months. Eventually, the fighting ceased, but the battle was never forgotten.

11. Complete the sentences below by adding a relative clause in the space. Remember to add commas where they're needed.

The spelling test was really tricky.

Our postman refuses to deliver parcels.

Jonathan's bedroom needs a good clean.

12. Draw lines to match options a) - c) to the correct label.

a. I went swimming

subordinate clause

b. on Tuesday at 9.30 am

main clause

c. because it was cold

phrase

*Grammagators like a bit of variety.
How well did you do with this mixture of questions?*

